

The humble paper clip is one of those pieces that we take for granted due to its efficient and practical nature. Few have been able to embellish upon the efficient and practical original design. So too the general form of the utilitarian clothes hanger which has undergone many variations in materials but has remained basically unchanged until now.

The Wave clothes hanger is an ingenious new spin on the humble clothes hanger creating an asymmetric and dynamic form, while losing nothing of the functionality required. Made from stainless steel rod, the Wave clothes hanger and packaging is 100% recyclable and can be beautifully complimented by combining the Wave clothes rack to ideally suit elegant hotels, retail stores, office receptions or the contemporary home where style is important.
